The Sun and the solar corona Page 1/14 The sun and the solar corona Introduction The Sun of our solar system is a typical star of intermediate size and luminosity. Its radius is about 696000 km, and it rotates with a period that increases with latitude from 25 days at the equator to 36 days at poles.

corona can be approximated by assuming that ionization and spectra are determined by local thermodynamic variables. In the interface between those regions, none of the usual helpful assumptions hold. If you could travel upward from the photosphere, youâ€™d find that the temperature decreases to around 4000 K and then rises toward coronal temperatures.
